

PRESENT

Embark on a journey to Transform, Inspire & Lead.

WhiteWater Teams is an experiential workshop where you live the process of working in a team, struggling together to become high performing and succeed in a highly intense, market-driven environment.

WhiteWater Teams is not a
“how to” workshop—it is a
“we did” experience!

*If you tell me — I will forget
If you show me — I will remember
If you involve me — I will understand
Chinese Proverb*

Workshop Objectives — through the week we will:

- Learn about:
 - Teams — share models and experiences, build a high performance together.
 - Yourself — how you, as an individual, impact, influence, limit or expand the effectiveness of a group.
- Take personal action to:
 - Build new processes as a group.
 - Create new and innovative ways to share your learnings with others.
- Respond to and account for:
 - Constant changes to our environment
 - Ambiguity inherently present in a world of

Your Workshop Guides

Whitewater travels through canyons, over rocks and waterfalls, and brings an adventure at every turn. Kim Simmons and Tony Lacey of Whitewater Strategies have assembled a staff that will guide each team through this week. Each facilitator brings over twenty years experience building organizations to survive and thrive in the organizational whitewater of change and continuous improvement. Their role is not to tell you how it is done but to climb in the boat and do it with you.

Together we will explore the principles and practices of High Performance.
